

HomeHome › Collections › Archive of Americana › America's Historical Newspapers

America's Historical Newspapers

Thousands of titles chronicle centuries of American history, culture, and daily life.

"Users can bring to life on their monitors the pages of an old newspaper from any major American city—and some small towns—and read about whatever person or event they choose."

—Bruce Chadwick, Professor of History, Rutgers University, in Journal of American History (Sept. 2010)

Overview

As the first draft of history, American newspapers have preserved essential records and detailed accounts of the people, issues and events that shaped the nation for hundreds of years. In the 1800s, American newspapers were often published by small-town printers and reflected the interests and values of the communities they served. But as the country grew and changed, so too did its newspapers. In the 19th century, the number of titles published rose dramatically, and newspapers were transformed by an increasing emphasis on society, industry, scientific advances, investigative journalism and human-interest stories. By the early 20th century, nearly every town in the United States had its own newspaper.

Thousands of titles from all 50 states

For searching and browsing American newspapers published in three centuries, America's Historical Newspapers is the most comprehensive online resource available. Continually expanding, it offers searchable digital facsimiles of thousands of titles from all 50 states. With eyewitness reporting, editorials, letters, advertisements, obituaries and much more, this acclaimed collection uniquely chronicles the evolution of American culture and daily life from 1690 to the recent past.

Multiple series, many options, but a single interface

The core of America's Historical Newspapers is Early American Newspapers, 1690-1922—the most extensive resource of its kind for exploring the essential record of the American past. Easily tailored to meet the needs of every institution's students and faculty, Early American Newspapers, 1690-1922, can be acquired by one or more series, by place of publication, by era and by decade.

The essential complement to Early American Newspapers is American Ethnic Newspapers, which includes African American Newspapers, 1827-1998; Hispanic American Newspapers, 1808-1980, and Ethnic American Newspapers from the Balch Collection, 1799-1971. Also available are Caribbean Newspapers, 1718-1876, and five subject-specific newspaper collections: American Business: Agricultural Newspapers; American Business: Mercantile Newspapers; American Gazettes: Newspapers of Record; American Politics: Campaign Newspapers; and American Religion: Denominational Newspapers. Finally, America's Historical Newspapers includes the Washington Evening Star (1852-1981)—the newspaper

Print Email Share

Request a Trial
or more information
1.800.762.8182

Quick Facts & Overview
Download Flyer \(PDF\)
Reviews
Accolades
Advisory Board
Title List

Announcing Readex AllSearch

A new platform for searching across Readex collections

More

America's Historical Newspapers: On-Demand Training

More

Related Articles

Lake Erie by Way of Guangzhou: Or, The Other Canal Boom

of record for the nation's capital.

From the leading newspaper repositories

America's Historical Newspapers has been created through partnerships with the American Antiquarian Society, the Library of Congress, the Wisconsin Historical Society and more than

More

American Ethnic Newspapers

With more than 500 rare titles from every region of the United States, this growing collection of fully searchable American ethnic newspapers is the most extensive resource of its kind. Together, the three series of American Ethnic Newspapers provide an unparalleled record of... Learn more.

Early American Newspapers, 1690-1922

As the first draft of history, American newspapers have preserved essential records and detailed accounts of the people, issues and events that shaped the nation for hundreds of years. In the 1800s, American newspapers were often published by small-town printers and... Learn more.

American Business: Agricultural Newspapers

Agriculture was the dominant American business in the 18th and 19th centuries. It fueled the social and economic engine that built the United States and generated its state and local governments. Farming also stimulated and regulated pioneering, land tenure and commodities... Learn more.

American Business: Mercantile Newspapers

The only collection of its kind, American Business: Mercantile Newspapers provides statistics-laden content from nearly 500 papers in a genre spawned by the rapid growth of shipping and international trade. Targeting wealthy merchants, professionals, and the educated elite, mercantile papers often were voluminous... Learn more.

American Gazettes: Newspapers of Record

In this unique collection of titles required to publish official announcements and documents, American Gazettes: Newspapers of Record offers a wealth of local facts, figures, legal decisions, and pronouncements, as well as wide-ranging coverage of regional and national events. Illuminating records for... Learn more.

American Politics: Campaign Newspapers

American Politics: Campaign Newspapers—the first and only collection of American papers solely covering specific political campaigns and issues—provides detailed primary-source documentation of the issues, arguments and opposing viewpoints that shaped 19th-century U.S. political history. Encompassing more than 300 papers published from... Learn more.

American Religion: Denominational Newspapers

Religion was the epicenter of nearly everything in the 19th century, dubbed the age of

Early Radio Broadcasting: Solving Mysteries with America's Historical Newspapers

Searching for the Forgotten Movie Mogul: William Fox, Founder of Twentieth Century Fox

The Digital Detective: Tracking Criminals When the Trail Runs Cold

Whitman in Wisconsin: Uncovering his Legacy with "Labor-Saving Machines"

Related Blog Posts

The United States Enters World War I: 28 Newspaper Front Pages from 100 Years Ago Today

Houdini's Amazing Life – and Mysterious Death

The First Woman Elected to Congress: Jeannette Rankin's Historic Victory

The Utterly Sad Anniversary of the "War to End All Wars": A Look Back Through America's Historical Newspapers

"America's Rembrandt": The Life of Thomas Eakins as Seen in America's Historical Newspapers

The Rite of Spring: As Seen in America's Historical Newspapers

Franklin scholar uses America's Historical Newspapers to trace an ingenious hoax

Researching Nat Turner's Slave Revolt in American (and African American) Newspapers religion. It was a dominant cultural and social force, shaping views on slavery, politics, westward expansion and other great issues of the day. Religious belief was almost... Learn more.

Washington Evening Star (1852-1981)

Until its demise in 1981, The Evening Star was universally regarded as the "paper of record" for the nation's capital. Published under such titles as Washington Star-News and The Washington Star, this long-running daily afternoon paper was one of the highest... Learn more.

Cleveland Leader (1854-1913)

One of Ohio's largest and most influential newspapers for the latter half of the 19th century, the Cleveland Leader offers fresh insight into the history of the Buckeye State. From Ohio's role in the American Civil War to its industry, education... Learn more.

Stay in Touch

Receive updates in your inbox.

Email address

By clicking Subscribe, you acknowledge that you have read and understand our Privacy Policy and Terms of Use.

Featured Digital Collections

Archive of Americana

America's Historical Newspapers
America's Historical Imprints
America's Historical Gov't Publications
African American Periodicals
The Civil War

International Studies

World Newspaper Archive
Foreign Broadcast Information Service
Joint Publications Research Service

See all collections

Contact Support

U.S. & Canada: 1 800.762.8182
Outside the U.S. & Canada: 1.802.875.2397

Privacy | Terms of Use | Website Feedback | Site Map | ©2018 Readex