MR. CHIEF JUSTICE BURGER: We will hear argument in Case No. 830, Chambers vs. Maroney.

Mr. Grogan, you may proceed whenever you're ready.

ARGUMENT OF VINCENT J. GROGAN

ON BEHALF OF PETITIONER

MR. GROGAN: Mr. Chief Justice, may it please the Court:

This criminal matter is before the Court on writ of certiorari to the Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. Constitutional questions presented are whether petition was denied effective assistance of counsel where he met his lawyer in the hallway on the way to the courtroom for trial on serious criminal charges.

It also involves the constitutional question of whether a warrantless search of an automobile in which the petitioner was a passenger which was made while he was in custody in a police station, after the car had been moved from the scene of arrest to the police station, and where there had been two previous searches of the same automobile.

It also involves the question of harmless error in connection with the admission into evidence of dum-dum bullets which were illegally seized and then used in trial to connect the petitioner with weapons that were found in the warrantless search of the car, and also used to describe the severity of

1 impact that could be made by such bullets to petitioner's 2 detriment.

3 The statement of the case in our brief is extensive,
4 and I will try to summarize it more briefly for the Court.

5 It opens with the statement: During the first week 6 of September 1963, petitioner and three co-defendants were 7 tried on four criminal charges. I find now, since the time
8 of preparation of my brief -- and I have advised my opponent, 9 Miss Los -- that the record of this trial has become available 10 to me and that that trial did not involve four criminal 11 charges but, rather, two.

12 It appears that the indictment that was presented to 13 the court and jury in that case involved solely the alleged 14 robbery of a service station on May 20, 1963. And, for reasons 15 that become apparent, this is very important to our case. I 16 would like to offer this to the Court at this time.

17 At the trial, in early September 1963, petitioner 18 was represented by a member of the Legal Aid Society of 19 Pittsburgh. The trial ended in a mistrial in the withdrawal 20 of a juror for reasons that are not explained in this record.

21 Later in September, on September 27, 1963, the --

22 Q Did the trial have several co-defendants, the 23 first trial?

24 A Yes, Your Honor, all defendants -- four de-25 fendants were in each of those cases.

1 Q All right.

2 A Petitioner was called again to trial and this 3 time he was again represented by a member of the Legal Aid 4 Society of Pittsburgh. It happened to be another lawyer, not 5 the one that represented him at the first trial. He met his 6 lawyer in the hallway on the way to the courtroom. There is 7 no evidence in the record as to what discussions there were 8 before that, if any, with this lawyer. They proceeded to 9 trial.

10 Q What is the practice in Pittsburgh when the 11 Legal Aid group represents a defendant? Is the -- there was 12 an appointment here, wasn't there? Was there an appointment 13 or did he --

14 A The record isn't clear in that regard, whether 15 it was a specific appointment or not. In other words, I cannot 16 tell you whether there was an order of the court entering an 17 appearance or directing the Legal Aid Society to appear. In 18 further answer to your question --

19 Q Well, can you tell us or can't you when this 20 gentleman he met in the hallway first knew he was going to 21 represent this man?

22 A He first knew it that morning, Your Honor, 23 apparently.

24 Q Apparently --

25 A I say that --

1 Q Does the record show that?

2 A No, it does not.

3 Q All you know is that he met him in the hallway?

4 A All we know, and we know that because of the 5 statements made by petitioner --

6 Q Did the Legal Aid Society or whatever the name 7 of it is know that somebody was going to represent him ever 8 since the first trial?

9 A Yes, I believe we could say that, Your Honor.

10 Q And does the record show whether anybody had 11 been doing any work on the case until the day of the second 12 trial?

13 A No, it does not.

14 Q You are just assuming that they were giving it 15 no attention in the meantime?

16 A Your Honor, the record doesn't disclose that 17 and that is all we have to deal with at the present time.
18 The --

19 Q Well, we have another factor, don't we? The 20 ordinary human experience in the practice and habits of 21 lawyers that two lawyers associated in the same organization, 22 whether it be a law firm or the Legal Aid Society, would 23 reasonably be in communication with each other about a case 24 when one is transferred to another and they build up a file 25 on it. Aren't there some assumptions that can be made about

1 that, on the basis of experience?

2 A Your Honor, I don't know whether those assump-3 tions warrant in the circumstances of this case.

4 Q Do you know that they are --

5 A If I may speak outside the record, I believe 6 so. I have obtained copies of the Legal Aid Society files in 7 connection with the case, and I believe they would show very, 8 very little to assist a lawyer in a second trial in the same 9 charges.

10 Additionally, we have the problem here that I have 11 been operating under the assumption that the first trial in-12 volved all four counts, whereas we find now that it only in-13 volved two counts for one of the two robberies that he was 14 charged with and tried, in September.

15 Q Was there an evidenciary hearing on this, in 16 the --

17 A There was an evidenciary hearing held in the 18 State Court, Your Honor, but was very brief.

19 Q Were you at that?

20 A No, I was not. I was appointed by this court 21 to represent the petitioner.

22 Q But there has been a habeas corpus petition 23 hearing on the inadequacy of counsel?

24 A Not in the federal system, Your Honor. Also 25 it is not a full hearing. Part of our contention is that

1 under Townsend vs. Sain, there was not an adequate factfinding
2 hearing by the State Court, as the material facts are not dis-
3 closed in this record. The record of the habeas corpus hearing 4 appears in the appendix. It shows that petitioner took the 5 stand, he was asked when he met his counsel, and testified that 6 he met him in the hallway on the way to the courtroom. He was 7 not asked any questions in connection with what other prepara-8 tion there was, whether he discussed it with him or not. The 9 only other thing touching on the fact was that petitioner said 10 that at some point in time between the time that he was incar-11 cerated and the first trial that a member of the Legal Aid 12 Society staff apparently came to the prison to talk to him.

13 Q You do plan to spend some time on the search 14 and seizure?

15 A Yes, I do.

16 The trial testimony disclosed that on May 13, 1963, 17 two Negroes walked into a service station and demanded all of 18 the money that the service station operator had. One of them 19 displayed a pistol, a nickel-plated pistol, and they received 20 from the service station operator $66 in cash, some personal 21 cards and his wallet.

22 At the trial, the service station operator identified 23 petitioner as the person who was holding the gun. He made an 24 in-court identification of petitioner, and identified the items 25 as his personal property, the cards and also the wallet.

1 Testimony further disclosed that around 11:30 o'clock
2 p.m., on May 20, two teenagers saw a car, a light blue station-3 wagon, parked in a parking lot near the teenage girl's home.
4 In it were seated four Negro gentlemen. They then testified 5 they saw this stationwagon circle the block around the teenage 6 girl's residence and also a Gulf service station. Subsequently, 7 about 15 minutes later, someone ran from the service station 8 explaining that there had been a robbery. They then saw, within 9 a few seconds, this light blue stationwagon leave the parking 10 lot at a high rate of speed.

11 The record shows that the service station was not 12 visible from the parking area. There is nothing in the record 13 to indicate that at any time anyone ran from the service 14 station to the automobile, got out of the automobile or any 15 other fashion connected with the robbery.

16 The service station attendant testified that two 17 Negro gentlemen came into the service station, both of them 18 displayed pistols, demanded everything that they had. One of 19 them was wearing a green sweater, the other was wearing a 20 trenchcoat. He took the change that he had and put it in his 21 right-hand glove, the service station attendant's glove, and 22 gave it to the two robbers.

23 The police were summoned; they came. They interviewed 24 the teenagers and the service station attendant and a descrip-25 tion of the car and the four occupants was put on the police

1 radio. Approximately 45 minutes to an hour later, two neighbor-
2 ing -- two police officers in a neighboring community saw a 3 vehicle that answered the description that had been put on the 4 radio, that is that it was a light blue compact stationwagon, 5 occupied by four Negroes. At that time the stationwagon was 6 being operated back toward the scene of the crime of that 7 evening, or the previous evening.

8 The police officers pulled the vehicle over on a side 9 street. The Commonwealth has argued that there may be infer-10 ences here leading to or could be inferred that the gentlemen 11 were attempting to elude the police at the time, but I do not 12 think that that is a fair inference from the record. But, in 13 any event, they were pulled over in the parking lot, they got 14 out of the stationwagon and the police officers frisked them 15 at that point for weapons. Within moments other police officers 16 from the community where the robbery had taken place came to 17 the scene. At that time those police officers looked through 18 the stationwagon by means of searchlight.

19 Petitioner and the owner of the vehicle were then 20 taken to the police station in the community where the robbery 21 had occurred. They were again searched and at that time or at 22 that moment money was removed from their persons. The police 23 officers went outside and made a search of the vehicle. The 24 chief of police or the lieutenant who was in charge testified 25 that they went through everything, to indicate the depth of

1 the search. They went back inside, after finding nothing, 2 and again questioned petitioner and Lawson, one of the other 3 co-defendants, went back out again and in this third search of 4 the car one of the officers opened up a vent in the heater and 5 from this vent he removed two pistols, two cards taken in the 6 robbery of May 13, and the personal wallet of the attendant of 7 that earlier event.

8 Q Does the record show why the officers discon-9 tinued the search and went into the stationhouse and then went 10 back out and continued the search?

11 A They don't say explicitly, Your Honor, but they 12 do say that they went through everything and found nothing.
13 And it appears as if what they did then was to go back in and 14 further interrogate or attempt to interrogate to disclose in-15 formation.

16 Q The record doesn't show what the subject of 17 that interrogation was, does it?

18 A No, it does not.

19 Q I couldn't find it in the appendix.

20 A No, there is nothing in the appendix to indicate 21 that.

22 Q Then it is your -- of course, you insist here, 23 in opposition, puts it in terms of one continual interrupted 24 search rather than two searches or three searches, as you do, 25 and that is a matter of how you view the facts, I suppose.

1 A The matter of continuity is a little hard to 2 explain, Your Honor, because of the passage of time that must be 3 inferred from the testimony of the officers as to how the search 4 went on.

5 Q Does the record suggest that this was the only 6 matter that the officers were then engaged in, or did they have 7 other things to do?

8 A It appears as if this was the only thing they 9 were engaged in, Mr. Chief Justice.

10 Later that same morning, then, the chief of police of 11 the community obtained a search warrant and went to the homes 12 of the four defendants and made a search. In the homes of the 13 three other defendants, nothing was found. He went to peti-14 tioner's residence and there found a holster, some dum-dum 15 bullets that were matched to one of the revolvers found in the 16 search of the car.

17 At the trial, petitioner's counsel objected to the 18 introduction of these dum-dum bullets into evidence, on the 19 grounds of relevance, at first. This was overruled. Then the 20 police officer testified on the stand that the dum-dum bullets 21 matched one of the -- matched the bullets taken from one of the 22 weapons, and that the effect of the dum-dum bullet on a human 23 body is to make larger holes and can cause more tissue damage.
24 Petitioner's counsel again objected. This time he objected on 25 the grounds that the search warrant did not disclose or did not

1 indicate what they were searching for, and it did not specific-2 ally say what they were searching for. Unfortunately, this 3 search warrant is not available to us now. It has been lost.
4 It is not a matter of this record. It apparently was lost 5 before the state habeas corpus hearings, and so we are unable 6 to say at the present time exactly what the search warrant did 7 disclose except for the testimony of the police officer when 8 he was on the stand, who said that the search warrant did not 9 indicate that they were looking for bullets.

10 In any event, petitioner's then counsel's objection 11 to this evidence was overruled by the court, who said that his 12 failure to file pretrial motions meant that the suppression 13 evidence should have been heard earlier; not having been heard, 14 it was overruled on those procedural grounds.

15 The jury returned verdicts convicting the four de-16 fendants of the crimes on May 20, and petitioner was sentenced 17 to six to fifteen years imprisonment.

18 About two years after his conviction, he filed a pe-19 tition for a writ of habeas corpus in the state court. An 20 evidenciary hearing was held, and I summarized for you what was 21 disclosed at that time that he met his counsel on the way to 22 the courtroom for the trial. There is no extensive discussion 23 as to what preparation, if any, there was. There is no 24 exploration as to what defenses were available, merely those 25 statements.

1 Q Do you point to anything in the record that 2 would show that there was ineffective assistance, where there 3 was any dereliction of duty or failure to do some things that 4 should have been done by the lawyer?

5 A Mr. Chief Justice, if I can, I think the basic 6 proposition would start with the things disclosed by the record, 7 and they would be that, in the first instance, the trial court 8 overruling the objection to the dum-dum bullets on the grounds
9 that there had not been a pretrial motion filed. The failure 10 of counsel to recognize the very valid argument in connection 11 with the search of the automobile, which we submit to the 12 Court at this time, the fact that there is no evidence at all 13 that any pretrial consultation between the lawyer and his 14 colleagues or, as a matter of fact, the petitioner.

15 Q What does it show about the conduct of the 16 first lawyer and the relations with the client?

17 A It doesn't disclose anything except in this 18 record, that I now have before the Court, it shows there that 19 there were other objections made that were not made at the 20 second trial, for other reasons. They were apparently not 21 known to the lawyer at the second trial.

22 Q Were they objections which were successfully 23 made the first time?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And you think they are material?

1 A I believe they are material. In connection with 2 their argument, we submit that the late appointment of counsel 3 for petitioner in this case was so prejudicial to him as to 4 warrant reversal. This Court, in Gideon vs. Wainwright, held 5 that the right to counsel, one charged with a serious crime has 6 a fundamental right essential to a fair trial.

7 The Court reaffirmed the principles of Powell vs.
8 Alabama, where the Court said that this right was not a hollowed 9 one, that it meant appointment at such time and under such cir-10 cumstances as to give effective aid of counsel in the prepara-11 tion and trial of the case.

12 Q As I understand the Third Circuit, they apply 13 the same rule as the Fourth Circuit

14
15 A No, Your Honor, I believe initially we argue in 16 the alternative, but I believe that it is not necessary in 17 Powell vs. Alabama, in Gideon and in other cases decided by 18 this Court, to show specific prejudice, that it is not necessary 19 where you have the issue of the right to counsel to show 20 specific prejudice.

21 Q I have some problem of second-guessing by a 22 lawyer, because so far as I am concerned, and I went back over 23 records of cases I have tried, I found considerable fault with 24 my procedure.

25 A Yes, Your Honor, I believe that that --

1 Q That is the problem I see here, the second-2 guessing.

3 A Well, what we are really concerned with here, 4 though, Your Honor, is not so much second-guessing in the 5 techniques of trial, but we are talking about those factors 6 that are extrinsic to the trial itself, in other words appoint-7 ment at such a time that he could prepare, he could do those 8 things that would lead to effective assistance of counsel.

9 Q He was appointed all the way back, wasn't he?

10 A I don't believe we can say that, Your Honor.

11 Q Well, isn't it the normal procedure to appoint 12 a lawyer or legal aid for all purposes of being there by order 13 of the court until he is removed?

14 A It is not necessarily the same lawyer. As a 15 matter of fact, it is not necessarily --

16 Q I didn't say the same lawyer, only to appoint 17 the Legal Aid group, isn't that the way it is done in the 18 court?

19 A Generally speaking, yes, I believe it is.

20 Q And then he assigns it to one of his other 21 lawyers.

22 A That's correct, Your Honor.

23 Q And would you assume that that was done here?

24 A Yes.

25 Q Wouldn't you assume that the lawyer was appointed

1 before the day of the argument -- I mean the day of the trial?

2 A The Legal Aid Society, Your Honor, they have 3 been appointed as such but he never met the lawyer who was to 4 represent him, his personal counsel, until the morning of the 5 trial. This is what the record discloses.

6 Q I understood you to say you didn't know. You 7 said he saw him in the hallway. He didn't say, "I saw him for 8 the first time in the hallway," did he?

9 A I think he did, Your Honor, yes. I believe he 10 did.

11 We submit that under Powell vs. Alabama that the 12 components of the effective assistance of counsel should have 13 been provided, and those would be the opportunities to prepare, 14 the opportunities to develop the defense, to interview wit-15 nesses, to file pretrial motions. None of these things could 16 have been done by petitioner here. We can say that the Legal 17 Aid Society has been appointed, but what we have to speak in 18 terms of is the effectiveness of the personal counsel that was 19 furnished to him.

20 Q What about pretrial motions for the first trial?

21 A There were none filed.

22 Q There was plenty of opportunity?

23 A There would have been plenty of time for it.
24 In other cases this Court has not considered the possibility 25 of prejudice in connection with the appointment of counsel.

1 In Glasser vs. United States, for example, where the Court de-
2 termined that it would not inquire into the degree of prejudice 3 sustained by one who had not had the assistance of counsel, un-4 impaired by a conflict of Interest.

5 MR. CHIEF JUSTICE BURGER: We will suspend for lunch
6 and continue after lunch, Counsel.

7 (Whereupon, at 12:00 noon, the Court was in recess,

AFTERNOON SESSION

1:05 p.m.

1
3 MR. CHIEF JUSTICE BURGER: Do you want to keep the 4 remaining time for rebuttal or do you want to continue?

5 MR. GROGAN: I would like to continue, please.

6 Before the luncheon recess, Mr. Justice Marshall 7 asked me a question in connection with when petitioner first 8 met his counsel. I find in the appendix, page 256, the testi-9 mony at the state habeas corpus hearing indicates that he 10 first met his counsel on the morning of trial. It states it 11 quite clear.

12 In my remaining time, I would like to point out to 13 the Court that our argument in connection with the rule of the 14 Third Circuit as adopted in this case is erroneous that for 15 the reason that we do not believe that you must show specific 16 prejudice in order to warrant reversal. We point to the case
17 this Court is considering in connection with recidivist pro-18 ceedings in connection with the pretrial procedures. But, in 19 any event, if you assume the validity of the rule adopted by 20 the Third Circuit in this case, which shifts the burden to the 21 prosecuting authorities to show that there was not a prejudice 22 from the appointment of counsel, that this rule doesn't follow 23 the teachings of this Court as indicated in the case of 24 Chapman, because in Chapman this Court said before you can de-25 clare a constitutional error to be harmless, the court must

1 express a belief that it was harmless beyond a reasonable doubt.
2 And this rule, as adopted by the Third Circuit, talks in terms 3 of overcoming this prima facie case of the ineffectiveness of 4 counsel solely by adequate affirmative proof, and we submit 5 that adequate affirmative proof in this case is not the same 6 thing as proof beyond a reasonable doubt, as in this case we 7 have nothing but the trial record before us, and all that that 8 trial record discloses is what was done or what may have been 9 -- what counsel may have been able to do within the confines 10 of the record as stated.

11 There is nothing here to indicate what could have 12 been done that was not done, what counsel may have had to con-13 sider and yet did not take any action upon. We pointed out in 14 our brief that there are instances where even if you assume 15 the validity of the rule and ignored the dictates of Chapman, 16 that there is specific prejudice indicated, indicated by the 17 failure of counsel, for example, for forcibly argue for 18 severance of the indictments of the two counts in connection 19 with the two separate robberies. There is no common scheme.

20 The only thing in common about them was the fact 21 that the fruits of the robberies were found at the same time.
22 There are other things to consider. In this case, the Third 23 Circuit went beyond the rule of the Fourth Circuit and inquired 24 into the adequacy of counsel solely by reference to the record
25 of the trial. Nothing was done here to develop what counsel

1 could have done through his own testimony. This case, unlike 2 any other case we could find, counsel did not testify. Counsel 3 was not called to testify either in the habeas corpus hearing
4 or in the habeas corpus hearings in the Federal District Court.

5 The Legal Aid Society records were never introduced.
6 The petitioner was never examined in detail as to what defenses
7 he may have had. The testimony of the petitioner, at the place 8 I have indicated in the record, covers just a few pages and 9 centers around the fact that he met his counsel on that morning.
10 There is no explanation of the failure of the counsel, for ex-11 ample, to file the pretrial motions as indicated by the record.
12 These things should be determined and can only be done so by 13 following the dictates of Townsend vs. Sain and having a pre-14 liminary hearing.

15 Turning to the search and seizure problem, we have 16 argued in the brief that there was not probable cause for 17 arrest, and I believe that argument is set forth adequately in 18 the brief. I would like, however, in the remaining time to 19 call the Court's attention to what the Third Circuit did in 20 this case in connection with the application of the doctrine 21 of Preston vs. United States.

22 Q If we accept your view on the necessity for a 23 hearing, that that was the error in this case, you don't reach 24 any of these other questions, do you?

25 A That's correct, Your Honor.

1 In Preston, this Court decided that where a person 2 is lawfully arrested, a warrantless search can be made for 3 two purposes: to find weapons to prevent the person from 4 escaping or from injuring the apprehending officer, and also 5 to prevent destruction of any evidence.

6 The Third Circuit, in its case of United States vs.
7 Dento, placed two additional distinguishing features into 8 that test and said that you can nevertheless validate a warrant-9 less search where the search was substantially contemporaneous 10 and there was a reasonable nexus between the offense and the 11 search. Neither of these matters were a part of the Preston 12 test and should not become a part of our law.

13 We have indicated to the Court in our brief that the 14 case of Wood vs. Crouse, decided by the Tenth Circuit, ably 15 distinguishes Dento and indicates its failure to follow the 16 dictates of Preston.

17 Q How was this car taken to the police station?

18 A It was driven by the owner, Lawson, one of the 19 co-defendants.

20 Q One of the co-defendants; and was a policeman 21 in the car with him?

22 A A policeman was in the car with him.

23 Q Do you think he had probable cause to arrest 24 a man by finding him in his car somewhere, and he arrests him 25 -- do you think -- you put him in the patrol car and take him

1 to the -- do you think the police have the right to seize the 2 car and take it to the station or anywhere else?

3 A I believe they have the right to take the car 4 some place else, Your Honor, to the station perhaps.

5 Q Why?

6 A I question whether they have --

7 Q Well, what probable cause have they got to 8 seize the car?

9 A If we assume that the --

10 Q Other than just to get it off the street?

11 A That is my reason for saying it, to get it off 12 the street.

13 Q Well, they can just park it somewhere where it 14 doesn't say "no parking."

15 A Yes, sir. That would be all that they could do.

16 Q They couldn't take it to the station?

17 A I don't believe so, Your Honor, nor could they 18 do the things that they did in this case, which was to conduct 19 after they had taken it to the station or it had been driven 20 to the station --

21 Q Let's assume they could take it to the station.

22 Q Do you agree that they can take it to the 23 station?

24 A I don't believe, Your Honor, that they can just 25 take it to the station for any other purpose than to get it off

1 the street. I am not sure they can move it.

2 Q Do you think they could impound it?

3 A It depends on the circumstances of --

4 Q Could they tie it up so that the defendant's 5 wife couldn't come and drive it away?

6 A I don't believe so, without some further action.

7 Q Or impound it so that no one could remove heroin
8 from the gas tank or some such thing, or pistols from the heater 9 even?

10 A If they had a reason to believe it, they could 11 have gone out and gotten themselves a warrant at the time or 12 left someone there in custody of the car, have a police officer 13 remain with the car.

14 Q I know, but somebody shows up with the car -- 15 they park the car in a legal parking zone, take the man to the 16 police station and leave an officer with the car and the wife 17 shows up at the car and says, "I want the car and I am going 18 to drive it away." They couldn't hold it, could they?

19 A I don't believe so.

20 Q Can they search the car? I want to be sure to 21 get that clear. Put them in the setting where they stopped the 22 car and they pulled it onto the side of the street. Can they 23 search the car from top to bottom right then and there?

24 A I don't believe so, under the dictates of 25 Preston, Mr. Chief Justice.

1 Q Isn't that their duty to search then and there?

2 A Preston permits the search then and there for 3 the purpose of preventing the destruction of evidence or to 4 prevent the suspects from getting to weapons.

5 Q Wasn't it the Harrison or Harris case that came 6 after that that shed a little bit more light on the subject --

7 A I don't think it would permit --

8 Q -- in the District of Columbia Circuit?

9 Q Cooper.

10 Q Cooper?

11 Q Cooper.

12 Q No, I think it was Harris. I think it was 13 Harris. Well, no matter.

14 Q Oh, yes, Harris, that's right.

15 Q Well, I don't want to interrupt your argument 16 any longer.

17 A Your Honor, I believe my time is up. Thank you 18 very much for the opportunity of presenting the case to the 19 Court.

20 MR. CHIEF JUSTICE: Miss Los?

21 ARGUMENT OF CAROL MARY LOS

22 ON BEHALF OF RESPONDENT

23 MISS LOS: Mr. Chief Justice, may it please the Court:

24 The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will readily agree 25 that certainly no man should be asked to stand trial on serious

1 criminal charges or on any charges unless he has had adequate 2 opportunity to discuss his case with counsel. And certainly 3 counsel shouldn't be forced to represent a man with only a few 4 moments notice. This we feel destroys any semblance of the 5 attorney-client relationship, because not only does it lend 6 itself to the fact that the attorney might not be adequately 7 prepared but also he may lack the inclination to act on behalf 8 of his client. Fortunately, that did not happen to Frank 9 Chambers.

10 As the record shows, we know that he was visited dur-11 ing the five-month period that he was lodged in the county jail
12 by an investigator from the Legal Aid Society, that the inves-13 tigator did prepare a report that was reduced to writing and 14 was placed in the file, that the file was subsequently turned 15 over to Mr. Tamburo, who was to represent Chambers on the day 16 of trial.

17 Q Is that all in the record?

18 A Your Honor, it is in the record by virtue of 19 allegations made in response to habeas corpus petition filed 20 in the state court. Unfortunately, what happened in the state 21 habeas corpus hearing was that counsel for the petitioner then 22 withdrew the allegation of ineffective assistance of counsel.
23 Consequently, the matter was never before the court, the 24 Commonwealth was not required to go forward with its burden of 25 proof or to present Mr. Tamburo or to offer in fact any files

1 or records from the Legal Aid Society. Consequently, there is 2 nothing actually on the record before your Court --

3 Q Was this evidence ever presented to a state 4 court?

5 A It was presented to a state court --

6 Q But it was withdrawn.

7 A -- and withdrawn. However, Your Honor, in the 8 federal district court the judge there felt that since the pe-9 titioner himself had raised it, that it should be considered 10 again by him.

11 Q He thought that exhausted state limits?

12 A He did, Your Honor.

13 Q Do you agree?

14 A I feel that if that is the case, if the peti-15 tioner was not waiving it at the time, that it did not exhaust 16 the state --

17 Q How did he -- he withdrew it?

18 A By virtue of his counsel when the Commonwealth
19 attempted to cross-examine Chambers about the length of time
20 that he had no chance to speak with Mr. Tamburo --

21 Q Well, if there wasn't an adequate hearing by 22 the state, it was because they withdrew that issue?

23 A Yes, that is our point, Your Honor. We are 24 saying that they withdrew it. If there is anything lacking on 25 the record, then it is lacking by virtue of counsel for the

1 petitioner at the time withdrawing the allegation, and conse-
2 quently the Commonwealth then stopped its line of questioning
3 of the petitioner on these lines and did not present any af-4 firmative evidence to show that the petitioner had had an 5 opportunity to discuss this case with Mr. Tamburo.

6 In any event, I think we can tell from the record
7 that Mr. Tamburo was very much aware of the facts of the mis-8 trial that had occurred three weeks prior, and was certainly 9 very much aware of the evidence that had been admitted at the 10 previous trial.

11 Chambers says that the mere fact that he didn't get 12 to consult with Mr. Tamburo for a longer period of time warrants 13 a new trial. In the past, in an early circuit, in the state 14 courts, when an allegation of this nature is made, it is merely 15 one factor to be considered in the overall test of the effect-16 iveness of counsel. In other words, the burden remains with 17 the petitioner to prove that he was prejudiced because of the 18 belated appointment.

19 Q Excuse me, Miss Los. Do we have the state 20 hearing record here?

21 A Yes, you do, Your Honor.

22 Q I mean is it in print or is it in the --

23 A It is in print --

24 Q Thank you. Don't bother with that. And that 25 will tell us all the facts of the withdrawal of the counsel

1 point during the hearing?

2 A Yes, it does, Your Honor. It sets it forward 3 for you. Now, generally, this is the Pennsylvania rule. In 4 other words, the petitioner would have to show that the ap-5 pointment was made in bad faith as being really perfunctory 6 prior to trial, or that he was actually prejudiced. This is 7 the position, I believe, that the Attorney General of New York 8 seeks to bring before you in the amicus brief in this case.

9 This position -- while we are certainly happy to have 10 the work by the Attorney General of New York -- goes beyond the 11 position that we are taking, because we feel that as far as the 12 facts and the practice of criminal law in Allegheny County is 13 concerned, that the facts especially in this case might warrant 14 the presumption that the Third Circuit has given in cases of 15 belated appointment.

16 For one thing, there is certainly a great hesitancy 17 among the judiciary to judge defense counsel's work, especially 18 if the judge has himself appointed defense counsel to represent 19 an instant defendant. And, again, there is a hesitancy on the 20 part of the defense counsel to say that he actually was inef-21 fective or was inadequately prepared. Of course, where he has 22 not asked for a continuance of the case, based upon these 23 facts, it would be, I think, more embarrassing for him to 24 admit that he was inadequately prepared. And, third, of 25 course, the prisoner, lacking any legal knowledge, would not be

1 in a position to judge his attorney's competence.

2 Now, the problem is aggravated in Allegheny County,
3 in Pittsburgh, because there unless the case is a murder case, 4 or involves an extensive string of armed robberies, counsel is 5 appointed ahead of time -- it is the public defender's office 6 who is appointed -- and an investigator does the preparatory 7 work, but unfortunately the prisoner does not have an oppor-8 tunity to speak with his counsel sometimes even just prior to 9 going into the courtroom. Usually counsel, defense counsel 10 will visit the prisoner in the bullpen, which is located below 11 the courtroom, on the morning of the trial, but unfortunately 12 in most situations, I must admit, counsel does not have an op-13 portunity to speak with his client until just moments before 14 the trial begins. He does, of course --

15 Q Miss Los, the petitioner says that under those 16 circumstances, there is no way under the sun to file a pre-17 trial motion.

18 A Well, that is true, Your Honor. That is very 19 possible, that that particular counsel did not file one. The 20 investigator, of course, prepares the facts and these facts
21 are available to trial counsel. He does not get to confer 22 with his client, but there was a previous conference done by 23 the investigator from the public defender's staff. Here the 24 trial judge --

25 Q Well, who made the decision as to whether or

1 not to file pretrial motions in this case?

2 A The record is unclear on that. I would pre-3 sume that it was done by counsel --

4 Q The record is clear that counsel from the Legal 5 Aid Society could not have done so because he did not get it 6 until that morning.

7 A All we know, Your Honor, is that he did not 8 confer with his client prior to that morning. He may possibly 9 have had the case prior to that, but I don't think that is 10 relevant in this situation, Your Honor, because here the state 11 judge as well as the federal judges all ruled on the admissi-12 bility of that evidence anyway, despite the fact that no pre-13 trial motions were filed. In other words, they granted the 14 fact that they should have been filed, but no one said we 15 will rule specifically on the admissibility of the evidence.

16 Q What about the first trial?

17 A At the first trial, Your Honor, I believe the 18 bullets were not admitted into evidence, and I presume the 19 counsel then -- Mr. Tamburo, that is -- would have relied upon 20 that.

21 Q Did they offer anything seized in the car?

22 A I am not familiar with that because we did not 23 have a copy of that until --

24 Q I got the impression from the record that they 25 put the pistols in, they put the weapons in --

1 A Right.

2 Q -- but not the bullets.

3 A Right. But not the bullets.

4 Q Well, was there objection to the -- certainly, 5 the petitioner had consultations at his first trial with the 6 Legal Aid Society representative?

7 A Yes, of course.

8 Q And there was ample time there for pretrial 9 motions?

10 A As I say, Your Honor, we don't have anything 11 as a matter of record to bring before you on this point, and 12 I would presume there was --

13 Q Well, the record then wasn't fully developed on 14 this counsel point?

15 A That is very true, it is not, Your Honor. And,
16 again, I say that the Commonwealth did not have to go forward 17 with the evidence in this particular matter. We will concede, 18 though, that the ruling circuit which raises the presumption 19 should be applicable to cases of this nature, especially in 20 lieu of the Allegheny County situation, and the circuit judge, 21 David Stalt, who ruled on this case, was from Allegheny
22 County, and was quite familiar, I believe, with the situation.

23 Q What did you say, raised the presumption of 24 what?

25 A It raises the presumption of ineffective

1 assistance of counsel from the fact that counsel did not have 2 an opportunity to confer with his client prior to trial, Your 3 Honor.

4 Q Does the record show how long the lawyer had 5 been practicing law?

6 A No, it does not, Your Honor. There was no in-7 vestigation at all into this matter.

8 Q That is because, you say, that they withdrew it?

9 A Yes, they did, Your Honor. Counsel specific-10 ally stated, when an Assistant District Attorney attempted to 11 cross-examine Chambers, his defense counsel got up and said, 12 "We want it to be made clear to the court that we are not 13 challenging the effectiveness of counsel."

14 Q Which defense counsel was that?

15 A This is Mr. Dixon, who was specially appointed 16 at the state habeas corpus hearing.

17 Q Now, are you telling us that this is standard 18 operating procedure in Pittsburgh?

19 A Yes, I am, Your Honor.

20 Q And happens in every case except for first de-21 gree murder case or something like that?

22 A Or a serious case of armed robbery.

23 Q Or a serious case of armed robbery.

24 A Or large narcotics --

25 Q But in felony cases your representation is that

1 it is standard procedure in Allegheny County, Pittsburgh, for 2 the actual lawyer who is going to be in the courtroom repre-
3 senting the indigent not to see him until the morning of the 4 trial, usually in the bullpen? Is that it?

5 A Yes, that is true, Your Honor. However, an in-6 vestigator from the public defender's office has previously 7 conferred with him and has prepared a file of those matters 8 that should be raised and, in addition, if there are defenses
9 which must be raised, the subpoena the witnesses. Now --

10 Q Did the lawyer raise any objections of the sort 11 at the time?

12 A No, he did not, Your Honor. He did not in this 13 case.

14 Q How long was it before that was raised?

15 A It was not raised until the state habeas corpus 16 and I believe that was two years later, it was not raised.

17 Q How long later?

18 A It was approximately, I believe, two years later 19 that it was raised. It was not raised by way of post-trial 20 motions, it was not raised on a direct appeal.

21 Q At the time of the sentencing, does the state 22 procedure allow a right of allocution and, if so, was it exer-23 cized? Did the defendant make any statement of his own to the 24 court at the time of sentencing?

25 A We don't have a record of that, Your Honor. I

1 would presume that our state procedure does call for that 2 right, and he would be allowed certainly to say anything that 3 he wished in his own behalf.

4 Q I suppose it would be reasonable to assume that 5 if, in exercising that right, he complained about the perform-6 ance of his counsel, that someone would have brought it to our 7 attention and to yours by now?

8 A Yes, and I presume then that it would have been 9 a matter of record so that we might have it to bring before 10 the Court.

11 Q I wasn't sure about the presumption. Do you 12 suggest that there is some kind of presumption that there is 13 ineffectiveness of counsel if the lawyer doesn't see the client 14 until the day of the trial?

15 A Yes, the Third Circuit has adopted a rule where-16 in they grant presumption to the defendant, if he can prove 17 that he only met his counsel very shortly before trial, that 18 a presumption of ineffective assistance of counsel would be 19 raised.

20 Q On that basis, half of the cases of England 21 would be presumed to be ineffective for they rarely ever see 22 their client.

23 A And in Allegheny County, I am afraid the per-24 centage would be even greater, Your Honor.

25 Q Well, I would say at least half. But an

1 associate mainly under the British system, a solicitor, and in 2 Allegheny County an investigator for the public defender's 3 office sees the man and does the investigating. Is that right?

4 A Yes, that is correct, Your Honor. That is cor-5 rect.

6 Q So it is an institutional defense that he has.
7 It is as though he hired a law firm and had the services of 8 several people instead of one?

9 A Yes, that is correct. Now, he says that he was 10 actually prejudiced by the failure to file these post-trial 11 motions, these pretrial motions and, as I suggested to you, he 12 was not prejudiced because in fact the trial judge as well as 13 the federal district court judge and the circuit court judge 14 discussed the admission of the evidence right on the merits, 15 that he could not have possibly been prejudiced by that. He 16 says he is prejudiced because he did not receive a severance 17 from the other defendants, and he cites the fact that Raymond 18 Lawson had previously been tried on a murder charge.

19 In fact, I would venture to say that the other de-20 fendants were prejudiced by being tried with him, because he 21 was the one that was identified as being the gunman at the 22 two robberies.

23 Q I take it the state court judge who passed on 24 the habeas corpus decision actually reached the counsel point, 25 didn't he?

1 A Yes, he did, Your Honor.

2 Q Why did he do that if the point had been with-3 drawn?

4 A Well, I believe that in answering the petition 5 of --

6 Q It raises it on the basis of the petition?

7 A -- it was raised there -- so he answered it.

8 Q Where do we stand on exhaustion, then, if the 9 state court actually purported to dispose of the point?

10 A If you should find that indeed the petitioner 11 had not waived his right to raise that point and that the 12 record -- and even though his counsel might have done so, if 13 he had not joined in this, that the allegation would still 14 stand and the record was inadequate for either the state 15 habeas corpus judge to rule on it and any of the federal 16 judges, then I feel I am forced to say that it must be remanded 17 for an evidentiary hearing.

18 If you find that there was sufficient evidence for 19 the state judge and the federal judges, even if he had not 20 waived it, then a hearing is unnecessary.

21 Q When was this circuit court rule adopted by the 22 prima facie evidence?

23 A The circuit was adopted, I believe, prior to 24 this in the case of Mathis -- United States ex rel. Mathis vs.
25 Rundle, which we have cited for you in our brief. It has been

1 cited by the petitioner as well as by ourselves.

2 Q That was before he was tried the first time?

3 A No, Your Honor, it is not.

4 Q It was not in effect?

5 A No, it was no in effect until 1967, and --

6 Q What does it have to do with this case, then?

7 A Well --

8 Q That is so-called presumption.

9 A I believe it is their position that the effec-10 tiveness of counsel is a question which does not depend upon 11 retroactivity for its existence. In other words, this is 12 fundamental to a defendant's due process of law and an indi-13 gent defendant's equal protection under the laws, consequently 14 it would not --

15 Q I presume that many lawyers have walked into a 16 courtroom in many cases, civil and criminal, and didn't know 17 anything about the case until they started.

18 A Well, that may very well well be true, Your 19 Honor. I would suggest that certainly as far as their client 20 is concerned, they are in a rather precarious position. In 21 other words, once the state has appointed counsel for someone 22 and that particular counsel chooses not to prepare the case 23 and in effect renders ineffective assistance to counsel, or 24 counsel is appointed by the state merely as a perfunctory 25 gesture so that there is not sufficient time to prepare, then

1 certainly I think it is our duty, whether it is a prosecutor 2 saying it or a defense counsel or the court, to step in and to 3 rectify that situation.

4 Q Is there anything whatever in the record con-5 cerning the way the man tried the case or concerning any other 6 facts that were established to show the court that he wasn't 7 an effective lawyer?

8 A No, Your Honor, there is absolutely nothing to 9 show that he was not an effective lawyer.

10 Q Nothing except that he was appointed that 11 morning?

12 A That is correct, Your Honor. There are the 13 allegations --

14 Q Well, the petitioner doesn't agree with you 15 about that at all.

16 A No, there are, of course, allegations made 17 that they should have filed these pretrial motions --

18 Q Yes.

19 A -- and they should have argued for severance.
20 They should have filed the pretrial motions to suppress evi-21 dence.

22 Q Argued for severance?

23 A And argued for severance. They joined in the 24 motion for severance. They did not make a specific -- that 25 particular counsel did not make a specific --

1 Q Well, is there any reason, any evidence shown 2 here that severance would have been granted, or is there any 3 reason --

4 A Absolutely none. There is absolutely none, 5 Your Honor.

6 Q Sometimes a severance is not desired, not a 7 desirable thing, sometimes. And they have nothing here to show 8 that a severance would have helped him?

9 A No, Your Honor, there is nothing that shows that 10 at all.

11 Q Did they argue that there was anything that 12 would have helped him in a severance?

13 A Well, they argued that Raymond Lawson, a co-14 defendant, had been previously tried on a murder charge and 15 that if they had known this they never would have wanted 16 Lawson to be able to testify in his own behalf, because he 17 apparently does not make a very credible witness. It is our 18 position that any one of the co-defendants might have been more 19 prejudiced by being tried with Chambers than vice versa because 20 of the four of them, Chambers was the one that was absolutely 21 identified as the gunman in the two different robberies.
22 Consequently, we don't think there is anything at all that 23 would have aided Chambers by being severed from the two cases.

24 Q Petitioner refers primarily to the pretrial 25 motions to suppress.

1 A Yes, Your Honor, that is true.

2 Q And he says that if counsel had known about 3 the situation, the lawyer, the individual lawyer had known 4 about this situation, he would have filed the motions to sup-5 press and therefore wouldn't have been prejudiced by the later 6 action of the court admitting the evidence on the basis of the 7 fact that the proper procedures hadn't been followed to suppress 8 the evidence. Isn't that his argument?

9 A That is his argument, and our answer to that, 10 of course, is that the judge actually -- the trial judge ruled 11 on the merits, as did the federal judges who later had an op-12 portunity to review this.

13 Q Was there any motion made?

14 Q No.

15 A There was a motion, yes, Your Honor, at trial --

16 Q By defense?

17 A -- yes, at trial a motion was made, an objection.

18 Q And it was denied on the ground that it was too 19 late?

20 A The trial judge, in answering, said you should 21 have filed a motion to suppress, and then he said, however, I 22 don't feel that this is evidence which should be suppressed 23 and, consequently, I will overrule your objection.

24 Q He overrules the objection to the motion to 25 suppress?

1 A That is correct, Your Honor, he overruled the 2 objection.

3 Q But he did so on the merits?

4 A I believe he did so directly on the merits.

5 Q Miss Los, in Pennsylvania, in a motion to 6 suppress, is the defendant allowed to put on evidence?

7 A Yes, he is, Your Honor. The burden shifts to 8 the Commonwealth to prove the admissibility of the evidence, 9 then the --

10 Q Well, the motion is made during the trial in 11 this case, and the judge said there is no evidence, right, 12 about the seizure?

13 A As far as the bullets were concerned, that was 14 not in evidence at that time.

15 Q And the judge said he should have made his 16 motion but, since he didn't make it, I will rule on it that the 17 motion is denied?

18 A If I may explain, Your Honor, initially there 19 were two objections made at trial, one was as to the evidence 20 found on the car at the search of the car; the other was made 21 to the bullets that were seized at the petitioner's home. As 22 far as the original one was concerned, an objection was made 23 to the admission of that at trial, not a formal motion to 24 suppress but, instead, an objection to the evidence that had 25 already been admitted into evidence.

1 Q Did they have voir dire on that?

2 A No, they did not, Your Honor. They did not.

3 Q What I am trying to get is you are not telling 4 us that that is the motion at trial is the same as a motion 5 before trial?

6 A No, I'm not, Your Honor. I am saying, though, 7 that if the judge has an opportunity to rule on the merits as 8 to whether or not it is admitted --

9 Q As far as any of the merits, does there have 10 to be testimony at that stage as to how the court can proceed?

11 A At the time the judge ruled on them, yes. The 12 motion was made before the court. The trial judge said I will 13 hear the evidence as far as the bullets are concerned. And 14 further when he heard the evidence he ruled that they were 15 admissible.

16 Q Did he hear the defendant?

17 A No, he did not at that particular time.

18 Q Did he hear the defendant's witnesses?

19 A No, he did not, Your Honor.

20 Q How could he rule on the merits without hearing 21 -- with only hearing one side?

22 A Because, Your Honor, he has before him the 23 warrant and the testimony of the police officer who served that 24 warrant, who searched the house.

25 Q That is merit?

1 A Yes, Your Honor, I feel that he can make a 2 judgment as to the admissibility of the evidence based upon 3 that.

4 Q Well, was the defendant precluded at that time
5 from putting in any evidence he wanted to on the subject matter?

6 A Your Honor, he did not make an attempt to do
7 so, and later he didn't offer any defense. Consequently, I 8 would presume that he didn't have anybody available to --

9 Q What was the evidence that they moved to sup-10 press?

11 A An objection was made initially to the evidence 12 that was found when the car was searched at the police station.
13 It was --

14 Q What was the evidence?

15 A Two revolvers, two guns, that were loaded.
16 There was a glove full of change that was later identified as 17 being taken from the Gulf service station robbery. There was 18 several cards, identification cards, drivers' licenses, that 19 were taken, and credit cards that were taken out of a robbery
20 one week previous to that. It was a Boron station robbery.
21 That was objected to at trial and was admitted into evidence.
22 Then counsel, Mr. Tamburo, suggested to the court that bullets 23 were going to be introduced and he wanted to preclude the 24 court --

25 Q What bullets?

1 A These were bullets that were found after a 2 warrant had been served at the petitioner's house the day after 3 the robbery. It was on the morning of the robbery, a police 4 officer went to the house -- he went to the houses of all of 5 the defendants -- that it was --

6 Q What do the bullets show?

7 A The bullets were of two character: they were 8 short and long, .38 caliber bullets, a good number of those 9 bullets were dum-dum bullets, which a police officer testi-10 fied were rather rare in his experience. The prosecution then 11 placed into evidence the two revolvers that were seized from 12 the car in which the petitioner was riding. These two -- the 13 bullets from those guns matched, in other words they were .38 14 caliber, long and short dum-dum bullets.

15 Q Was it shown that they could have been fired 16 in those pistols?

17 A That was true, Your Honor.

18 Q That was the object?

19 A That was the object of admitting them into 20 evidence.

21 Q And where were the bullets found?

22 A They were found in petitioner's home, in his 23 apartment.

24 Q In what?

25 A In his apartment.

1 Q As to the merits, I don't recall the record at 2 the moment, but you spoke of eyewitnesses. How many eye-3 witnesses identified this appellant -- petitioner?

4 A At the first -- involving the first robbery,
5 there was only one witness, the fellow who was robbed, the gas 6 station attendant. He positively identified him. For the 7 second robbery, the fellow who was robbed stated that he was 8 unable to identify him in court because his physical character-9 istics were somewhat changed. He had a different -- it was 10 different clothing, he was now wearing glasses, and had shaved, 11 and the scarf he was wearing at the time of the robbery. How-12 ever, he did identify him within hours of the robbery as being 13 the person who -- the gunman who had come in to rob him. So 14 this is the eyewitness testimony that we have.

15 The teenagers who observed the car circling the area, 16 the car which contained four Negro occupants. One was wearing 17 a dark green pullover V-neck sweater; another was wearing a 18 white trenchcoat, and we know from the fellow who was robbed
19 that one of the gunmen was wearing a V-neck sweater and another 20 was wearing a light tan trenchcoat. Of course, we have no 21 eyewitness testimony from the two teenagers who observed this 22 car because they couldn't identify anyone who was in the car 23 other than their race and their dress, and they did not observe 24 the robbery.

25 I would like just for a moment, if I may, to reach

1 the question of the search that was conducted at the police 2 station. Certainly, if Chimel is retroactive, then I must 3 concede this argument, but it is our position that at the 4 time that the police officers acted, that the test must be the 5 reasonableness of the search that they made. They couldn't 6 search the car --

7 Q What do you do with Preston?

8 A Pardon?

9 Q What do you do with Preston?

10 A We believe that Preston is merely an extension 11 of the reasonableness rule. In other words, our facts, if we 12 can differentiate them from Preston, would be acceptable as 13 far as the reasonableness --

14 Q How do you do that?

15 A Well, by saying this, Your Honor: For one 16 thing, we maintain that this was a search instant to lawful 17 arrest, that the search that was made at the police station 18 was substantially contemporaneous with the arrest --

19 Q Was there any time interval indicated?

20 A A very short time interval, Your Honor.

21 Q But nothing in the way of minutes or --

22 A We don't know precisely.

23 Q But, in any event, was it after they had been 24 put in safe-keeping?

25 A Taken to the police station.

1 Q Well, had they been locked away or something?

2 A Yes, you're right, Your Honor. They were in-
3 side the police station. I can't make a true argument and say 4 well, the police were just attempting to inventory the car or 5 to --

6 Q They were in no position where they could reach 7 the car, were they?

8 A No, they could not reach the car, I will admit 9 that. But we are saying that the police officers would have 10 placed themselves in danger because of the dark circumstances 11 in this parking lot, the fact that it adjoined a bar where 12 friends of the petitioner and his co-defendants did frequent.

13 Q Where was the car when they searched it?

14 A When they searched it, it was at the police 15 station. They took it by virtue of having Lawson drive it with 16 a police officer to the station, and it was there that they 17 searched it. We are saying, if I may, Your Honor, that they 18 couldn't have searched it in the dark parking lot. It was too 19 dangerous for them. The number of policemen that they had 20 there -- it was too dark to be able to search the car effect-21 ively.

22 Q Well, I don't quite understand, what is your 23 position -- once they got it to the station and they had the 24 four men safely locked away, they then had the car, where, in 25 the station house garage or something?

1 A They had it in the driveway, which is --

2 Q In the driveway along side the station?

3 A Yes, Your Honor.

4 Q Why would Preston not apply notwithstanding

5 they could not have searched it where initially they arrested

6 these people?

7 A Because, Your Honor, we feel that there is a

8 reasonable nexus between the crime charged here, the fact that

9 this was the escape automobile, whereas in Preston there was no

10 connection between the search of the car and the vagrancy, the 11 reason why the --

12 Q Except, as I understood it, here is the car

13 safely in the station house driveway.

14 A It is, Your Honor.

15 Q Entirely in the custody of the police. So I

16 take it that nothing could have happened had they gone to a

17 magistrate to get a warrant to search it? But the --

18 A If that is the test, Your Honor. We don't 19 feel that at that particular time it was the test.

20 Q What made your custody of the car legal?

21 A The car was taken, Your Honor, because it was

22 suspected as being the escape vehicle. Certainly, if someone

23 had come to claim the car, the police officers could not have 24 detained it.

25 Q If the wife or a confederate or anybody else

1 had shown up to take the car, just when they wanted to search 2 it, they would have had to let it go, wouldn't they?

3 A You're right, Your Honor, I would say --

4 Q Do you really say that?

5 A I am saying that if --

6 Q Why couldn't they have held it?

7 A If they had searched the car --

8 Q If they could search it, I would think they 9 could hold it to search it.

10 A If they had not begun search by the time members 11 of the family had come to take the car, I would presume, because 12 of the time lapse there, it could not be substantially contem-13 poraneous with the arrest. If they had the right to search the 14 car, the right extends, as I --

15 Q Do you think the car was in the category of 16 evidence? You suggested that it may have been the getaway car 17 from the robbery, you are speaking of now, that it might have 18 been evidence, that this was the car that was used in the 19 robbery?

20 A Well, Your Honor --

21 Q You don't rely on that?

22 A I don't rely on that, because I know that the 23 witnesses could not specifically identify this particular auto-24 mobile.

25 Q Thank you. I see.

1 Q But this was the automobile they were found in?

2 A Excuse me?

3 Q It was the automobile, whether it was identi-4 fied or not, wasn't it?

5 A Yes, it was, but as far as seizing it for pur-6 poses of evidence, in other words had it been identified as 7 being the getaway car by someone, we could not do that because 8 we know --

9 Q Whose car was it?

10 A It belonged to Raymond Lawson, who was a co-11 defendant. He was driving the automobile.

12 Q Your time is up, Miss Los, but I have one ques-13 tion for you. Neither you nor your friend seems to cite the 14 Harris or Harrison case out of the District of Columbia 15 Circuit, which at least a great many people read as a consider-16 able clarification of the Preston doctrine, where the auto-17 mobile was searched by the police without a warrant substan-18 tially after the time of the arrest and several miles away.

19 Are you familiar with the case?

20 A I am, Your Honor. Unfortunately, it does 21 escape me at the moment. I know that we did consider it. We 22 chose to rely on Dento, which the circuit relied upon.

23 Q I just wondered if there was any reason to 24 think that it was not in point, as I sat on the case in the 25 Court of Appeals and my recollection is that it is very much

1 in point here. Perhaps Mr. Grogan will shed some light on it, 2 if he wishes to.

3 REBUTTAL ARGUMENT OF VINCENT J. GROGAN

4 ON BEHALF OF PETITIONER

5 MR. GROGAN: We also considered it. I frankly at this 6 point don't recall what our reasons were when we prepared the 7 brief for not including it.

8 If I may, there was one thing I would like to call to 9 the Court's attention. In connection with the waiver of the 10 argument on the ineffectiveness of counsel, I think the case of 11 Fay vs. cited by this Court would have to indi-12 cate that there had been a knowing waiver, and here counsel 13 made this gratuitous statement in the course of discussion, 14 that it was not participated in by the defendant in any 15 fashion.

16 Q You have a substantial amount of time left, if 17 you wish for rebuttal.

18 A I am out of time.

19 Q Are you out? Excuse me, I am looking at the 20 wrong sheet on the wrong case. I showed nine minutes, but I 21 was mistaken.

22 A Thank you very much.

23 MR. CHIEF JUSTICE BURGER: Thank you for your sub-24 mission, and for yours. The case is submitted.

25 (Whereupon, at 1:45 o'clock p.m., the argument in the above-entitled matter was concluded.)
